Mekkah Royal Clock Tower Complex

Mekkah Royal Clock Tower Complex, also known as Abraj Al bayt towers, located near Masjid al Haram in Mecca, Saudi Arabia, is a mixed residential and hotel complex. Its consruction started in 2004 and finished in 2012. The building structure spreads over seven towers erected above a podium. The tallest tower adorned with the Mekkah Royal Clock stands 601 metres high above ground.

The massive building was developed as part of the king project which aims to modernise the city to offer world_class accomodation for the increasing number of visitors and residents of the holy city of Mecca.

The complex was constracted on the site of the historic Ottoman era « Ajyad Fortress »which was demolished to make way for the tower.

Mekkah Royal Clock Tower Hotel is a 120 storey structure, it is described as the tallest hotel and the tallest clock tower in the world. The clock faces are illuminated by around two million LED lights.

The complex includes several facilities, such as :towers for permanent residents, Abraj Al Bait shopping centre, an Islamic museum, an observation centre, a large prayer room for more than 10000 people and a parking space for more than 1000 vehicles.
