Miguel lives in a small town in the Andes of Peru. He lives with his parents and two brothers. He is 16 and attends a public high school in a town 40 minutes far from home. Miguel lives in a small house. At home, they don't have running water or electricity. Miguel lights up candles every night to do homework. He usually spends 2 to 3 hours studying. He is always committed and his teacher at school has told him that he should go to college. Miguel is very excited about the idea of going to college.

Miguel keeps studying very hard and by the end of the year, he is the most outstanding student in his class. His teacher reminds him that he should apply to college the following year. Miguel knows he needs money to apply.. After graduating from school, Miguel finds a part time job. It does not pay well but it allows him to earn enough to apply. Later, he is accepted at college. He is so happy.As Miguel starts the first year at college, he realizes that it is not so easy and he has to study even more than before. He also needs to keep the part-time job because he spends on fares, food, books. Unfortunately his parents can't help him. At the end of the first year, Miguel has become a more responsible person. He has also become mature and more grateful. He has an opportunity that most people in his small town don't have. He's earning himself and education. He wants to help his family. His biggest dream is to help both of his brothers to earn an education as well. He's not sure when that happens but he knows he will make this dream come true.
